

A signalled

the encoder holds the source, so it does not predict the allocation -- it measures it, minimises exactly, and sends the answer

